A Word from the Principal

Reflection

As Term 1 comes to a crashing crescendo, it is timely to stop and reflect – what have we achieved this term?

Lent is always a time to reflect on what we can do better and what we can do differently. Better and different are two sides of the coin. The College has endeavoured to provide our students with a smooth start to 2019. We established the “book drops” in O-week and the Vertical Clan system which helped students to reconnect to the College after the long summer break. The Vertical Clans have started slowly with students getting to know each other and taking part in different house activities. Learning groups have been working hard on ensuring students know what the units they are studying are about and where they are heading. These road maps for learning continue to be a vital part of the conversation with parents and students – how are you going with your learning? The Goal Setting and Learning Conferences establish a meeting place and parameter for these parent and student conversations – together we can make a difference to our students learning.

Our sporting teams have continued to amaze us – with champions in and out of the water. Cricket, rowing, surfing, tennis – all activities that have seen students working together to succeed. Swimming and Athletics Carnivals all occurred in Term 1 this year, creating a fast paced whirlwind of activity.

Our musicians came together last week for the Autumn Concert, an event which showcases their ability, but also their hard work and the many hours of practise that it takes to seamlessly perform. The House Captains are in the process of establishing a House Band Off – a new challenge which will see the students compete for House points. Rehearsals are already underway for the play in Term 2.

Camps have also been organised and enjoyed. Outdoor Education had their first camp – a three day rafting experience. All the students had an incredible time mastering new skills, however took just as many days to recover from their exhaustion. The Year 5 students headed to Port Arthur and the weather was amazing for them. They came back smiling and joyous. In our final week of Term 1, all the secondary students headed out. Upon their return, please keep in mind the added traffic around the school on Friday afternoon with students and their belongings being collected.

Then we stop – we breathe, we rejuvenate, we stretch and we refresh. I wish all our families a happy and relaxing term break. Take the opportunity to celebrate Easter – the hope and the Resurrection.

Thought of the Week

It is at Easter that Jesus is most human, and like all humans, he fails and is failed. His is not an all-powerful God, it is an all-vulnerable God.

What a Term!

As we all look forward to a two week break it is so rewarding when we can reflect on the wonderful term that has been enjoyed by the students, staff, parents and carers. It is amazing to consider all that has been achieved over the course of the past ten weeks.

The Primary students have been involved in so many rich learning opportunities both within and outside the classroom. In fact, I always wonder how we simply manage to achieve so much within a 10-week block. Highlights from the term include:

- Primary Swimming & Inter-school Swimming Carnivals
- da Vinci Challenge for Years 5 and 6
- Year 5 camp to Port Arthur
- Year 3 excursion to Bonorong Wildlife Sanctuary
- Years 3 to 10 Athletics Carnival
- Kilometres for Compassion Walkathon
- Making Jesus Real Programs
- Prep excursion on the Double Decker Bus
- Kinder excursion to the Mount Nelson Sustainability Centre

- TSO Concert for Years 3, 4 and 6
- Holy Week Liturgies

It is a privilege to witness so many personal achievements and outstanding performances. Thank you to the students, teachers, teacher assistants and families for making Term 1 so memorable. I encourage all of the students to enjoy a rejuvenating break and look forward to welcoming everyone back on Tuesday, April 30.

On behalf of my colleagues, I wish all families a happy and Holy Easter, filled with the joy of the Resurrection.

Easter Blessing

May the loving power of God,
which raised Jesus to new life,
strengthen you in hope,
enrich you with his love,
and fill you with joy in the faith;
and the blessing ...

From the Heads of House

Term One

It has been an exciting time to embark on a new journey as a Head of House. An opportunity we are extremely grateful for and one that we will ensure is fulfilled to the best of our ability.

We are very passionate about looking after the wellbeing of our students and are looking forward to working with the students for the remainder of the year. There has been some healthy competition in our office (and with the students!) and we hope to maintain this new spark of enthusiasm as we enter another Tasmanian winter and head towards Field Day, the inaugural House Band-Off, and Mount Carmel Day at the end of Term 2.

We have spent Term 1 exploring many new opportunities. The biggest one being the Vertical Clan system. We would like to congratulate the students for embracing the change in a positive manner. This term has also brought a new group of Year 7 students to our community and we have been thrilled to see the way that they have adapted to the life of Mount Carmel College with such enthusiasm and pride. This term has also seen our first big house competition, with the Years 3-10 Athletics Carnival taking place last week. Amid the friendly competition and Carmel taking the win, we would like to thank everyone for their display of house spirit and energy throughout the day. From our keen athletes, to our costume designers and everyone one in between, we were impressed with the commitment of the students and the way they supported their friends on the track and in the stands.

Next week will see the start of the school holidays. The following resource is from the Beyond Blue website. This is a useful site to explore with your daughters, to foster open communication and to check in and see that everyone is alright.

Take time to recharge these holidays

- Curl up on the couch, in bed or a comfortable nook with a great book.
- Create a playlist of your favourite tunes, lip sync or dance around the house.
- Get experimental in the kitchen, indulge on your favourite food or eat in bed – no one's there to judge you, except maybe your dog.
- Put together a care package of all the things you know that can help boost your mood (even put it aside to open on a day you could really use a pick-me-up).

- Do something creative, learn a new craft or make a gift for someone in need.
- Pamper yourself: light a candle, have a relaxing bath or meditate.
- Have a marathon movie day or binge on a TV series. There's always something to catch up on or re-watch and there's no one to talk over it.
- Challenge yourself: complete a sudoku, listen to a podcast, watch a video tutorial or learn a new skill you can pop up your sleeve for the next time you're in a social situation.
- Have a digital detox: turn off your phone, disconnect the WiFi and spend a day totally unplugged.
- Arrange a catch up with your friends.

We hope that all students take some time to recharge these holidays and enjoy a happy and safe Easter break.

Holy Week and Easter

It seems rather strange that we are celebrating Palm Sunday and reflecting upon the Stations of the Cross in the week before Holy week. It is just the way the holidays fall this year, however, I am sure it will pave the way for next week and students will have the opportunity to reflect upon their experiences of Palm Sunday and the Stations of the Cross.

Australian Scripture scholar, Brendan Byrne SJ, reminds us of the line in a movie, "When you are in love, you look out at the world through another pair of eyes". What if we looked out at the world through the eyes of Jesus? What did he see?

Although the world in which we live is a beautiful place, he'd have seen what we see today - a world that is unfortunately still marred by so many natural disasters, so much anger and violence, illness, and addiction. Jesus chose to enter into this world and to let it enter into him! This is actually what Jesus did when he suffered and died on the cross. He willingly and trustingly opened his arms to the suffering of the whole world. He didn't protect himself or resist! He said "Yes" to it and allowed it to come into his body – and he held our pain and transformed it into love. Jesus enters our pain and heals it from within!

On Good Friday, we will hear again these words from Isaiah: He took our infirmities and bore our diseases.

Jesus is the bearer of our burdens, our sins, and our pain. The wonder of this is that God is offering us transformation in the person of Jesus. In Jesus, our human brokenness becomes whole.

Today our Early Years students re-enacted the story of Palm Sunday and what a wonderful job they did. Waving palms and with loud voices they sang 'Sing it Hosanna!' Through mime and reading the Gospel story students retold the story of Jesus' triumphant journey into Jerusalem.

Tomorrow, in various locations around the College, our Years 3 to 6 students will depict the Stations of the Cross through freeze frames. This is the first time we have embarked on a venture like this and I am sure the students will do a wonderful job of telling Jesus' story from the Last Supper to Easter Sunday. Parents are most welcome to attend, with the liturgy commencing at 9.45am.

Caritas Kilometres for Compassion

Yesterday, students from Kinder to Year 6 along with their buddies took part in the Kilometres for Compassion walk around the block. The Mission Sisters enthusiastically prepared this event and impressively were very keen to promote it.

Project Compassion is Caritas Australia's annual Lenten fundraising and awareness-raising appeal. Millions of Australians come together in solidarity with the world's poor to help end poverty, promote justice and uphold dignity. The Mission Sisters and the Primary students certainly have tried to promote justice, in their efforts to raise money and walk for a cause.

All money raised will go directly to Caritas. Could all families please ensure that all donations for this event and Project Compassion boxes be returned tomorrow either to the classroom teacher or the College Office. I sincerely thank all families for their generous contributions to Project Compassion.

Finally, I take this opportunity in wishing you and your family an Easter filled with joy and hope. May your time together be a celebration of life and love. We look forward to seeing you all in Term 2.

Transition Program

Last Wednesday our Year 10 students and staff went to Guilford Young College for their Careers Expo. Representatives from UTAS, TAFE, industry, apprenticeship and traineeship employers, Australian Defence Force, Tasmanian Police, Tasmanian Ambulance Service and more were in attendance. Students had the time to roam through the various stalls and to spend time collecting information, resources and ask questions. It is the first of our transition experiences for the year.

NAPLAN

Earlier in the week, our Years 3, 5, 7 and 9 students completed their practice NAPLAN tests, which was in addition to the practice sessions run in Term Four last year. No results will be published for these practice tests.

NAPLAN is moving completely online in 2019 from the previously used paper-based assessments. It is hoped that NAPLAN Online will provide better assessment and more precise results. The assessment feature a tailored test design where the questions a student receives will depend on their answers to previous questions.

Actual testing for NAPLAN will be held from 14 - 24 May. We are confident that our students will be well prepared for the test itself and to take the test online.

If you have any questions about NAPLAN, please contact me: kim.schade@mountcarmel.tas.edu.au

What is a Library?

As Term 1 draws to a close at Mount Carmel College, I have been reflecting on how the library has been supporting the teaching and learning so far this year at the College. What do we actually do? In what areas, do we need to grow if we are to truly augment teaching and learning at Mount Carmel College?

As a starting point in answering these queries, I have revisited the IFLA/UNESCO School Library Manifesto: The School Library in Teaching and Learning for All (1999). Although this manifesto was created 20 years ago, it remains current with guidelines for its use being updated as recently as 2015 by the International Federation of Library Associations and Institutions. Interestingly, this document has been translated into over 20 languages for use around the world, making it very much a global document for school libraries.

The 'School Library Manifesto' states: The school library provides information and ideas that are fundamental to functioning successfully in today's information and knowledge-based society. The school library equips students with lifelong learning skills and develops the imagination, enabling them to live as responsible citizens.

This statement meaningfully resonates with what we, as library staff, see as our role here at Mount Carmel College Library. We continually update our information sources to ensure that students and teachers have access to the most recent information and ideas from Australia and around the world to inform their teaching and learning programs. We strive to make sure that information is offered in multiple formats to ensure access and engagement for all. Most importantly we want to ensure that students are given the opportunity consider their learning through exploring and valuing diverse 'points of views'. To support their lifetime of learning, we have begun to engage our students in an explicit inquiry process using the Guided Inquiry Design Model developed by Carol Kuhlthau, Leslie Maniotes & Ann Caspari.

Mrs Hill and myself are both enthusiastic lifelong learners, we see it as our role in the library to empower students to also become learners for life and we welcome the opportunity to work with students on their research tasks. With the introduction of the Project Based Learning elective this year we have been really enjoying assisting students in finding information, guiding their inquiry questions and hopefully inspiring them to think creatively and 'out of the box'!

The concept of the school library 'developing the imagination' does not immediately come to mind when considering the role of the school library in a student's education. But we know that knowledge in today's society is fluid and evolving making it ever more important that we cultivate the imaginations of our students so that they have the skills to negotiate and engage fully in our technology driven global society. Professor Pendleton-Jullian, of the Ohio State University, who explores the interchange between culture, environment, and technology across a diverse range of fields from astrophysics, architecture, innovation models for K-12 education, and human and economic development in marginalised populations, states 'that agency in the world today requires a productive entanglement of imagination and action.' (Knowlton.osu.edu, 2019). I plan to ponder this over the holidays and hope to come up with some 'imaginative' pedagogy to further cultivate the imaginations of our students.

College Sport

Congratulations

Congratulations to everyone that has been participating in school sport in Term 1. It's been great to see so many students competing and doing their best while representing Mount Carmel. We look forward to another huge term of sport in Term 2 and will be in touch with you over the coming weeks as new teams are finalised.

Athletics Carnival

We had a fantastic Years 3-10 Athletics Carnival at the Domain Athletics Centre last Thursday. The weather was perfect and the students' efforts were amazing. The carnival had a fantastic atmosphere, with so much enthusiasm and house spirit from all the students.

It was a close finish, with Carmel announced the overall winner on the day, followed by Loreto and Lourdes. Lourdes may have finished third in the end, but they were winners of the hotly contested best costume parade with a wonderful display of green.

Congratulations to all the students that participated, and thank you to all the staff and volunteers on the day that helped with a variety of tasks to make the carnival run smoothly. Individual winners, champions and record breakers will be in the first edition of The View for Term 2.

STCPSSA Swimming Carnival

The Primary Swimming team took to the Hobart Aquatic Centre pool again last Friday, to compete against students from other Southern Tasmanian Catholic Primary Schools. Having already swam at the JSSATIS carnival, the swimmers were confident and keen to have another go. The Mount Carmel College swimmers again did a fantastic job and were extremely supportive and encouraging of each other. Congratulations to all students, involved staff and helpers for a fantastic 2019 swimming season!

State Representatives

Good luck to the 17/Under Tasmanian Netball Team that headed off to Brisbane this week for the National Netball Championships. Amongst the team are Year 10 students Maddi Hay, Ella Marsh and Grace Pullen and former students Jess Earney and Captain, Charlie Wheller. A terrific Mount Carmel representation.

The U15 Tasmanian Hockey Team, including Year 9 students Maddison Brooks, Taylor Brooks and Year 8 student Felicity Wilson-Haffenden are also away at the moment, competing in the Australian Championships in Narellan, NSW. The team has had a great start to the tournament, recording 3 wins and 1 loss so far. Keep up the great work!

Inter School Horse Trials

Today was a great fun day, it felt different to my other events because I was in my school uniform. I competed at the schools one day event, which is open to Year 5 to 12 students. The Secondary and College students ride in teams but the Primary students ride as individuals. First I had to ride a set dressage test. For dressage we have to plait our pony's manes and make them clean and tidy, this is to show respect to your judges and respect and discipline for yourself. When riding dressage, I wear my College winter shirt, tie and jumper with my jodhpurs.

Next I rode cross country, the fun part of the competition. Cross country tests your pony's stamina and obedience as we go out on a big trail and jump some big solid jumps, all in a set time period. I wear my polo top and rugby jumper for this plus my back protector to protect me in the event of a fall. The third phase of our competition is show jumping where we jump coloured rails in a set order and within a time frame. It's back to formal uniform for show jumping.

For this competition. I competed on my new pony, Sammy. I have only had him for three months so I didn't have high expectations, but we had an awesome day out and I came second in the Grade 5 section. I was really pleased with Sammy's efforts and look forward to next year.
